Re. CFTC v. Hunter Wise Commodities, LLC, et al.

Dear Customer,

I am writing to you in connection with the action of CFTC v. Hunter Wise Commodities, LLC, et al. (the "CFTC Action"), in which the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida (the "District Court") entered an Order Temporarily Appointing Special Monitor and Corporate Manager Melanie E. Damian (the "Monitor/Manager").

The District Court granted the CFTC's motion to disqualify J.B. Grossman and J.B. Grossman P.A. (collectively, "Grossman") as counsel for two of the individual Defendants in this matter - Edward Martin, Jr. and Fred Jager. Grossman has been relieved of all further responsibilities related to the individual Defendants in these proceedings. To provide Defendants Martin and Jager with sufficient time to obtain new counsel in this matter, the District Court has continued the trial, currently set to commence on October 7, 2013, to the two-week period commencing December 2, 2013.

The Order disqualifying Grossman and continuing the trial can be found in its entirety at: <http://www.hunterwisemanager.com/USDistrictCourtFilings.htm>. The Monitor/Manager encourages you to periodically visit this website, which will be updated with additional information, court filings and orders throughout the course of the CFTC Action. No claims or restitution process for customers will be approved prior to the trial's completion.

Please understand that neither the Monitor/Manager nor any of her attorneys or other representatives may provide you with legal, tax and/or accounting advice in connection with this or any other matter. Should you require such advice, the Monitor / Manager asks that you contact your own attorney, accountant or other professional.

If you have questions regarding the CFTC Action and how it may affect you, please visit the Monitor/Manager's Frequently Asked Questions page at <http://www.hunterwisemanager.com/FAQ.htm>, email hunterwisemanager@dvllp.com, or call 305-542-4410.

Please note that we would prefer to contact customers and provide future updates by email; therefore, please email us at hunterwisemanager@dvllp.com or call us at 305-542-4410 to provide your email address. If you do not have an email address, please call us to provide your current mailing address where we may contact you.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

/s/ Melissa McCarthy
